Intertextuality

Intertextuality refers to the fact that all texts (in the broadest sense of the word, including novels, philosophy, journalism, song lyrics, and all works of art in general) are interconnected. Every text that is created is affected by the content, reasoning, and aesthetic choices of all the texts that preceded it.

DIRECTION: Think about the concept of intertextuality. Can you think of some examples of intertextuality in works you are familiar with? What are the texts? How are they related? Remember to think of the word "text" in its broadest sense.
