

Name _____

Unlocking Eid's Hidden Images

Instructions: Read the descriptive passage about Eid morning. Then, find four examples of figurative language (they are bolded for you). For each one, write:

1. The type of figurative language (e.g., metaphor, simile, personification, hyperbole), and
2. What it means in plain language.

Passage: "Eid Morning Magic"

Eid morning in our home is always electric. The aroma of spices from the kitchen dances through the hallways (1), waking even the sleepest siblings. Sunlight spills through the windows like a golden invitation from the sky (2), and the house hums with excitement.

My little brother bounces around like a balloon on a windy day (3), wearing his new kurta that still smells like the shop. Our family chats and laughs over warm parathas and dates, while my mom moves from room to room like a general commanding a joyful army of pancakes and people.

Outside, neighbors call out "Eid Mubarak!" across balconies, and the air itself seems to smile. It's not just a holiday-it's a heartbeat of happiness that echoes through every wall (4).

1. "dances through the hallways"

Type of Figurative Language -

What It Means in Plain Language -

2. "a golden invitation from the sky"

Type of Figurative Language -

What It Means in Plain Language -

3. "like a balloon on a windy day"

Type of Figurative Language -

What It Means in Plain Language -

4. "a heartbeat of happiness that echoes through every wall"

Type of Figurative Language -

What It Means in Plain Language -

