

ANSWERS

Both quotations are from Nick Carroway. The first refers to how indifferent Tom and Daisy are to the effects of their actions, as if they have no responsibility for the consequences of anything they do.

The second quotation refers to the differences in people's lives as a result of the social class they are born into and whether or not they were raised with advantages, and that these things can influence a person's character, decisions, and world view.