

Story Builders: Putting Marvin's Adventure Together

The Story So Far...

Marvin is a friendly monster who lives alone in Evergreen Forest. Although he looks big and scary, Marvin is kind, curious, and always willing to help others.

One morning, Marvin decided he wanted to make friends with the animals who lived in the forest. However, the animals had never met a monster before, and things did not go exactly as Marvin had hoped. Unfortunately, the pages of Marvin's story have been mixed up! Your team must work together to put the story back in the correct order.

Your Mission - Work with your group to:

- Read all 12 story sentences.
- Look for clues that reveal what happened first, next, and last.
- Discuss your reasoning with your teammates.
- Agree on a final sequence before recording your answers.

Put the Story in Order - Write a number from 1-12 beside each sentence to show its correct place in the story.

- _____ A. The rabbits thanked Marvin and invited him to join them for lunch.
- _____ B. Marvin noticed that the animals quickly ran away whenever they saw him.
- _____ C. Soon, word spread that Marvin was kind and helpful.
- _____ D. Without hesitation, Marvin offered to help.
- _____ E. Marvin smiled as he realized that being kind was the best way to make friends.
- _____ F. The next morning, Marvin decided to take a walk through Evergreen Forest.
- _____ G. Marvin carefully carried the branch away so the rabbits could safely leave their burrow.
- _____ H. The rabbits were trapped inside and did not know how to move the heavy branch.
- _____ I. Marvin was a friendly monster who lived alone in Evergreen Forest.
- _____ J. By the end of the day, Marvin had made many new friends throughout the forest.
- _____ K. As he walked, Marvin saw a fallen tree branch blocking the entrance to a rabbit burrow.
- _____ L. Marvin felt disappointed because he only wanted to be friendly.
