

Name _____

The Totally Unbelievable Times

Directions - Each news story contains misspelled words.

Circle every error, then write the correct spellings on the lines below.

Robot Joins the School Orchestra - (6 spelling errors)

A small robot surprised students when it arrived for orchestra rehearsal on Monday. Its metal hands moved with amazing efficiency, and it played every note with perfect punctuation. The conductor called the performance exceptionel, although one musician complained that the robot's glowing eyes were a little bizzarre. School officials are now considering its admision into the group.

Corrections

Giant Sandwich Blocks Main Street - 7 spelling errors

Traffic stopped when a magnificent sandwich rolled out of a restaurant and became a huge obsticle in the road. A local chauffer tried to drive around it, but the sandwich stretched across the entire boundry of the intersection. Police described the event as a strange phenominon and asked the public to remain calm. The mayor promised an immediate investegation and warned residents not to exaggerate the story.

Corrections

Anonymous Goat Wins Science Fair - (5 spelling errors)

An anomonus goat entered the regional science fair with a project about plant ecoligy. Its display included a detailed hypthesis, several graphs, and a miniature greenhouse. Judges praised the goat's perseverance and called the project highly credible.

Corrections
