

Name _____

The Daily Double-Take

Directions - Each unbelievable news report contains spelling mistakes. Circle every misspelled word, then write the correct spellings beneath the story.

Telescope Spots a Giant Sandwich in Space (5 spelling errors)

Scientists studying a distant galaxy reported seeing a colossal sandwich floating near a satellite. One researcher offered a plausible explanation, while another called the event a strange coincidence. The team will continue its investigation tonight.

Corrections

School Hamster Wins Athletic Tournament (6 spelling errors)

A hamster became the most competitive athlete at Saturday's school tournament. Its trainer created a vigorous exercise strategy and adjusted the animal's carbohydrate and protein intake. Judges praised the hamster's athletic ability and called its victory inevitable.

Corrections

Veterinarian Opens Clinic for Dragons (8 spelling errors)

A local veterinarian has opened a clinic for mythical animals. The building includes a fireproof laboratory, an enormous reservoir, and special respiratory apparatus. Each dragon receives a complete neurological examination and a personalized hygiene recommendation. The doctor said young dragons can be aggressive, but most become calm when treated with compassionate care. One patient caused temporary chaos after making an abrupt escape through the roof.

Corrections
