

Name _____

Lexicon Under Surveillance

Instructions - Each sentence contains one misspelled vocabulary term.
Circle the error, then write the correct spelling on the line next to the sentence.

1. The historian argued that the outdated law had become an anacronism in modern society. _____
2. The committee requested additional evidence to corroborate the witness's statement. _____
3. The scientist used a computer model to measure the rate of molecular difussion. _____
4. Her willingness to accept responsibility demonstrated genuine accountabilty. _____
5. The sudden policy change created widespread confusion and public acrimoney. _____
6. The speaker's calm delivery and natural charismaa immediately captured the audience's attention. _____
7. The article presented a fallacius argument based on assumptions rather than evidence. _____
8. The charity praised the volunteer for his altruistick commitment to helping others. _____
9. The laboratory developed a biodegradeable material that could replace traditional plastic packaging. _____
10. The professor asked students to examine the conotattion of several emotionally charged words. _____
11. The two organizations formed a temporary coalision to support the proposed amendment. _____
12. The principal warned that academic complacensy could prevent students from reaching their potential. _____
13. The researcher used both qualitative and quantatative evidence in the final report. _____
14. The new treatment may help allevieate symptoms without causing serious side effects. _____
15. The author published the controversial essay under a seudonym to protect her identity. _____
16. The economic forecast predicted that prices would continue to flucuate throughout the year. _____
17. The documentary examined the loss of political soverignty during the occupation. _____
18. The lawyer questioned whether the court had proper jurisdiccio over the dispute. _____
19. The painting's unusual juxtaposition of cheerful colors and bleak imagery created tension. _____
20. The editor removed several redundant sentences that repeated the same point. _____